STORY

The modern day Quinta do Arrobe was established in 2011 by the Gaspar family whose viticultural and winemaking roots date back to 1882 when their great grandfather planted his first vineyards in the Tejo region. Located near Santarém, the vineyards are planted on the hillsides of the Tejo River where the soil is comprised of calcareous clay. With an unrivaled commitment to quality, the Gaspar family has worked tirelessly to select the best indigenous and international varietals that express the unique characteristics of their terroir and make wines that truly awaken all of the five senses.
